

Cordjia Cloud Solutions Changes Name to CorVant™

Camden, Maine (February 13, 2012) – Cordjia Cloud Solutions, LLC, also doing business as Cordjia Marine Solutions, LLC, announced it has changed its name to CorVant, LLC to better reflect the company's expanding product line and strategic plan, which now includes delivering industry specific, cutting edge business management solutions to new markets beyond the marine industry.

The name CorVant, a combination of "core" and "advantage," emphasizes the company's charter as a provider of comprehensive solutions for small businesses that help them achieve a competitive advantage. CorVant's solutions allow companies to better manage their core operations, better meet customer needs, and deliver a quick return on investment compared to competitive products.

The CorVant product line includes PierVantage™, the marine industry's only true cloud-based business management solution, and FulVantage™, a solution that provides wholesalers and distributors with the tools they need to deliver a unique and personalized B2B and B2C online buying experience. With FulVantage, sellers have the pricing flexibility and process efficiency they need to attract new customers, increase the loyalty of existing customers, and drive profitable business growth.
